FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

BILLINGS -- The 7th Annual Computer Programming Competition for High School Students was held on Saturday, May 1, 2010, at Rocky Mountain College.

Twenty-six high school students, representing eight high schools in Montana and Wyoming, participated.

Teams from Missoula Sentinel High School and Helena High School that previously triumphed in the earlier Western Region competition were on hand to defend their titles.

Other schools represented included Billings West, Billings Senior, Rimrock Christian, Powell (Wyo.) and two teams of home-schooled programmers.

Teams solved computer-programming problems posed by the faculty of the Rocky Mountain College computer science department during the morning.

Three teams with the highest scores from the morning round competed head-to-head in a sudden death final round in the afternoon.

Winning teams' members and their high schools were:

1st Place: Billings West (Duff Gray, Advisor)
David Lindenbaum
Ivan Mattie

2nd Place: Missoula Sentinel (David Hamilton, Advisor)
Laura Vonessen
Jonathan Hamilton

Erik Anderson

3rd Place: Billings West (Duff Gray, Advisor)

Ryley Hardt

Evan Stafford

Dalen Johnson
