

RMC's BABBLIN' BEARS SCORE WELL AT WYOMING TOURNAMENT

For more information: Shelby Jo Long-Hammond
Assistant Professor, Communication Studies
Phone: (406) 657-1054
Email: longsj@rocky.edu

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

BILLINGS -- The Rocky Mountain College Babblin' Bears continued their successful season last weekend, scoring well in several divisions at Northwest College in Powell, Wyoming.

Competing in a division with over 30 teams, Rocky freshman Josh Harris and his partner from Casper College won the novice division of debate. Harris also took home a ninth place speaker award.

Junior Justin Rife and Sasha Nafziger, a transfer to RMC from the University of Colorado, placed third in the open division of debate.

Novice team Daniel Parod and Catherine Thiel won fifth place award in the novice division.

Justin Rife and Catherine Thiel placed fourth in the Individual event portion of the tournament in duet interpretation.

"The team is really starting to come together after our successful fall season," said Rife.

The RMC Babblin' Bears and coach Shelby Jo Long-Hammond head to Slovenia Nov. 20 for a debate camp and international tournament.

RMC's next tournament will be at home in January.

#

11/09/2010