

MORE MAGIC FROM KIRTON & LEWIS

For more information:

Gavin Kirton

Rocky Mountain College assistant professor, chemistry

Phone: (406) 238-7377

Email: gavin.kirton@rocky.edu

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

BILLINGS – Dr. Gavin Kirton, from Rocky Mountain College, and Dr. Thomas Lewis, from Montana State University – Billings, will team up once again to present a chemistry “magic show,” on Saturday, March 27, 2010.

Chemistry students from both colleges will assist the two chemistry professors when they collaborate as part of the Billings Clinic 22nd Annual Science Expo.

Kirton and Lewis collaborated at the annual Chicks in Science at MSU-B Feb. 13, 2010.

The Billings Clinic Science Expo, called “The Medical Mystery Tour,” includes a number of RMC science and math professors, who have traditionally helped with judging science projects from K-12 students in the Billings region. Among RMC faculty who have volunteered to serve as judges are K. Stuart Smith, associate professor of computer sciences and Dr. Ulrich Hoensch, associate professor of mathematics. The judging of projects occurs on Friday evening, March 26th.

For more information on the event: <http://www.billingsclinic.com/body.cfm?id=158>

#

3/23/2010