BILLINGS – The Rocky Mountain College Physician Assistant Program will celebrate National Physician Assistant Week by holding a blood drive, Thursday, Oct. 8, 2009.

The United Blood Services will be located in Fraley Lounge of the Bair Student Center from noon to 4 p.m.

Students from the program will help register donors, or people may sign up on line at www.bloodhero.com.

RMC's 26-month Master of Physician Assistant program trains students to become a highly skilled medical professionals. The program holds active accreditation from the ARC-PA (Accreditation Review Commission on Education for the Physician Assistant). Graduates from ARC-PA-accredited PA programs are eligible to sit for the PANCE (Physician Assistant National Certifying Examination) and become licensed to practice. The PANCE is the entry-level exam PAs must pass to become nationally certified.
